For Immediate Release

Company Name: YAMAHA CORPORATION
President and Representative Executive Officer: Takuya Nakata

Name of Yamaha U.S. Subsidiary Revolabs, Inc. Changed

As part of Yamaha Corporation's drive to accelerate its unified communications (UC) business in the global market, Yamaha Corporation (hereinafter Yamaha) announced that its 100-percent subsidiary Revolabs, Inc. (Headquarters: Massachusetts, U.S.A.; hereinafter Revolabs) has changed its company name to Yamaha Unified Communications, Inc., effective as of June 1, 2018.

Founded in 2005, Revolabs has developed, manufactured, and marketed remote conferencing systems, wireless microphone systems, and other UC products. Since becoming a wholly owned subsidiary of Yamaha in 2014, it has come to play a part in Yamaha's UC business activities.

Striving to further develop the company's UC business globally, Yamaha has changed the corporate name of Revolabs to clearly indicate its relationship with the Yamaha Group. Through this change, Yamaha will work to raise the recognition of the Yamaha brand and increase its corporate value by providing customers with superior products and services.
